JEANNE D'ARC'S FAST RACE.

DEFEATS FITZ HERBERT AND OTHER SPEEDY SPRINTERS IN CLOSE TO RECORD TIME.

Cotyto Easily Runs Away from Strike Out—Four Favorites and Two Second Choices Sweep the Oakland Card.

San Francisco, Cal., November 17.—Jeanne d'Arc decisively reversed her previous running with Fitz Herbert in the Clay Handicap at Oakland today, winning that five-furlongs feature from seven fast horses, including the Hildreth two-year-old, Booger Red, Native Son, Cloudlight, Restigouche, Little Jane and Rose Queen. The Forsythe filly accomplished the feat with ridiculous ease in the exceedingly fast time of 59 1/2 seconds. The race was marked by more foul riding than usual. Fitz Herbert, the chief sufferer, being practically eliminated as a contender by crowding, which eventually prevented him from getting up, despite an electrifying stretch sprint.

Rose Queen, the champion two-year-old of the California spring racing and ridden by Sweet, was the first and chief offender and established an early clear lead after crowding the favorite to the fence. She was subsequently subjected to a dose of her own medicine and put out of commission by another horse in Booger Red. In the meantime Jeanne d'Arc enjoyed clear sailing on the outside, rapidly ran around on the outside on the turns and drew out and won off as her rider pleased in the stretch. The net result of this carnival of rough riding was a series of profusely bleeding cuts on Fitz Herbert and Rose Queen's hind legs, temporarily throwing both of these grand young thoroughbreds out of training. Restigouche, which ran coupled with Fitz Herbert as the Hildreth entry, was ridden by an obscure stable hand and virtually left at the post.

The stewards took cognizance of the rough riding in the big race by fining jockey Sweet, the rider of Rose Queen, $25.

Despite the small field in the closing race at a mile its running developed unsatisfactory incidents. Neva Lee began this by her unreadiness at the start, which resulted in her being practically left. Gilbert immediately after crowded Woodcraft out of his position and again later on fouled him so palpably that the stewards began an investigation, which may result in Gilbert's suspension.

The almost unprecedented success enjoyed by public choices during this meeting continued today, four favorites and two second choices being the record.

Cotyto scored her third successive victory of the season in the second race at five and a half furlongs. The vastly improved Spreckels filly simply played with her opponents, among which was included the phenomenally fast Strike Out, and gave indisputable evidence of stake class. In any event, many of the local horsemen believe she is the best two-year-old filly in training here.

CAPTAIN RICE IN GOOD STANDING.

By a mailed vote sent here to Secretary Harvey Woodruff by the stewards of the Western Jockey Club, Captain R. R. Rice of Warner, Ark., was today restored to good standing. Captain R. R. Rice was disqualified from participating on any of the tracks under Western Jockey Club supervision for having engaged in the racing at Union Park, St. Louis, and Essex Park, Hot Springs, in the fall and winter of 1905, at the time that the American Turf Association was formed and the big split up in western and southern racing affairs occurred. Rinked at not being allowed to engage in the racing at the inaugural meeting of the Oakland track at Hot Springs, Captain R. R. Rice declared war on the sport in his native state and was instrumental in having Senator Amis, representing Warner, Ark., introduce the bill in the legislature that eventually put a stop to the sport in Arkansas.

Aside from the reinstatement surprise is manifested that the association known as the Western Jockey Club, and thought to be out of existence, is still very much in the active list.

CUSHING SEEKS RAILROAD MONEY.

Lexington, Ky., November 17.—J. E. Cushing arrived here today from Los Angeles to prosecute his suit for damages against the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company for the loss of six thoroughbred horses that were burned to death in a car at Paris, Ky., about three years ago.

Ed Baxter left this morning for Havana. He was accompanied by apprentice jockey Willie Paul. His four horses, Rexall, French Nun, Colonel Blue and Claiborne, were shipped from Latonia today for Cuba.

J. H. Jarvis, of Holton, Kas., arrived here at noon today and before nightfall had purchased twenty-four head of thoroughbreds to be resold to farmers in Kansas.

T. P. Hayes will make his home in this city for the winter. His horses are still at Latonia. He has not decided where he will ship them.

HOT SPRINGS COMMITTEE FORMED.

Hot Springs, Ark., November 17.—The committee named by the Business Men's League to draft a bill to be presented to the legislature as a substitute for the Amis anti-racing bill, which will permit racing in this county under proper restrictions, was announced today, and is composed of J. L. Wadley, newspaper man; W. W. Waters, capitalist; Gus Strauss, merchant; M. A. Elsie, druggist; George R. Belding, president Arkansas State Fair; W. G. Maurice, bath-house owner; C. H. Weaver, stationer; David Laser, art store, and S. H. Stitt, president Arlington Hotel company.

This committee will draft a bill providing for a spring and fall meeting, restricting the number of days racing shall be conducted.

MAHER STILL LEADS ENGLAND'S RIDERS.

Death of the Milk-Fed Horse, Azote—Bayardo Retired to Winter Quarters.

Up to and including October 30 the account of the leading jockeys of England was as follows:

The famous milk-fed thoroughbred, Azote, which ran unsuccessfully in the Derby this year, broke its leg during an obstacle race at St. Rouen, and had to be shot, says a Morning Leader telegram. Azote's racing career was brief and inglorious. He ran six times and his best performance in a race was to finish fourth, and on that occasion there were only five runners.

There is as much interest now in certain jockeys as there is in the racing itself, and especially Maheer and Higgs, the two left in the running for the jockey premiership. Their friends provide them with excellent chances for gaining brackets and naturally this is reflected in the betting.

Prince Carl Kinsky has tendered his resignation of the presidency of the Austrian Jockey Club on private grounds, says Deutscher Sport. The prince first became famous as a sportsman when he rode his mare, Zoedone, to victory in the Grand National of 1883.

Bayardo has won all the seven races he has contested this year with the greatest ease and earned during the season for his owner, Mr. Fairie, $61,540 in stakes. He is one of the best two-year-olds to ever win the Dewhurst Plate since its establishment in 1875, although the list of winners includes Bal Gal, Chamant, Donovan, Dutch Oven, Friar's Balsam, Kisher, Meddler, Orme, Ormonde, Paradox, Pilgrimage, Rock Sand, St. Frusquin and Wheel of Fortune. Bayardo does not run again this year, and if he goes on all right will win the classic races of next year for certain.

DEATH OF JEAN BERAUD.

Jean Beraud is dead. He was the leading winning two-year-old of 1898 and a race horse of great merit. He was bred by Gideon Daly at his Holmdel Farm in New Jersey and was a son of His Highness and the Sensation mare, Carrie C. As a two-year-old he won seven of his first eight races in unbroken succession in the colors of Sydney Paget. Counselor Wernberg beat him in his first race, which was at Morris Park. Then in order he won the National Stallion Race, Eclipse Stakes, Hudson Stakes, Great American Stakes, Tremont Stakes, Great Trial Stakes and the second half of the Double Event. After that he trained off and was beaten in his other two races, but he was the best of his age and won $65,357. As a three-year-old he won the Withers Stakes and Belmont Stakes and, falling lame, was retired for the year. As a four-year-old he won the Brookdale Handicap, but was unsuccessful in his other races. In the stud his success has not been marked, but being a young horse, there is no telling what he might have done had he lived longer. He died at Horse Haven Farm near Lexington, November 15, of acute indigestion.

JOCKEY MORIARITY RULED OFF.

Houston, Tex., November 17.—After John McBride had won Saturday with Butwell in the saddle, Judge Murphy made a quiet investigation and as a result of it set Moriarity down for life. Moriarity had the mount on John McBride on his previous start when he was beaten by Wise Hand. Judge Murphy is determined that Texas racing shall be kept clean and that all cases of dishonesty will meet with severe punishment. The following official rulings were handed down by him yesterday:

"Hart Dornham, Secretary—
"I find that the horses Cerro Santa, Bosom Friend and Ora Sudduth have been for some time under the care of superintendence of Thomas Hastings, who was ruled off at City Park, New Orleans, for complicity in the Grenade poisoning case. In my opinion this disqualifies these horses from racing under the rules of the Texas Thoroughbred Association and that they can be reinstated only by an act of its directors."
"Joseph A. Murphy, Judge."

"Hart Dornham, Secretary—
"For fraudulent riding of the horse John McBride, jockey Moriarity is ruled off the turf."
"Joseph A. Murphy, Judge."

WILL TRY TO SAVE KENILWORTH.

Buffalo, N. Y., November 17.—August Belmont, who holds a $75,000 mortgage on the Kenilworth track here, came to Buffalo Saturday to discuss with the stockholders of the Buffalo Driving Association, which owns the track, the question of foreclosure. Suit to foreclose the mortgage for non-payment of interest was begun last week.

A conference was held between Mr. Belmont, John N. Hall, attorney for the Buffalo men interested in the track, H. Montgomery Gerrans, who is one of the stockholders, and others anxious to see the present ownership of the track continued.

No definite action was announced, but an effort will be made by the Driving Association to raise funds to carry the mortgage and retain the property.

NO CONCLUSION AS TO NEW ORLEANS.

Cincinnati, O., November 17.—Edward Corrigan, J. B. Respass and Joseph Rhinock conferred here today on the New Orleans situation, but nothing of moment was done. All will be in Chicago tomorrow at the American Turf Association meeting.

BOOKMAKING ON NEW YORK TRACKS.

Trials and Tribulations Brought to the Layers by the New Law.

Bookmakers, so-called, have just finished the hardest year in the history of the American turf. Many of them because of operations on the Jockey Club's tracks have been arrested and indicted by the grand jury, while others have skipped out leaving unserved warrants behind them. The passage of the anti-betting law came upon the bookmaking fraternity like a thunderclap. For a dozen years they had been permitted, under the provisions of the Percy-Gray law, to gamble openly with the public, which consisted of thousands of persons each day. Under these conditions the bookmakers sat in a circle in a huge betting ring, each with his crew, consisting of cashier, sheet writer and outside man, about him. Cash wagers were handled without limit, also recorded in such a manner that there was little ground for disputes. In a word, bookmaking had grown into a business, requiring labor, skill, money and brains.

But the Hart-Agnew law knocked this business into a cocked hat. Overnight the whole complexion of affairs changed. There was no longer any betting ring, except a bare place patrolled by blue-coats. There was no longer any system of betting. In fact people were quickly made aware of the fact that even to whisper a bet of one dollar on some horse or other was liable to result in a jail sentence. In forty-eight hours after Governor Hughes signed the bill the great crowds of former days were gone. From an average daily attendance, exclusive of Saturday, of 18,000 men and women, the figures fell off until 2,500 was a liberal estimate. Where did these people go? Did they stop betting entirely. Many have since declared that poolrooms and handbooks gobbled up their patronage, but whether that was true or not, the fact remains that persons who used to visit the track and bet $1, $2, $3 or $5 disappeared suddenly and did not return.

Who made up the 2,500 who came to the races day in and day out with clock-like regularity? Perhaps fifty former bookmakers were there, each with four helpers. Then there were 200 deputy sheriffs, policemen in uniform and plain clothes, private sleuths and up-state gumshoe artists, all looking for violations of the law or perhaps something more agreeable. Trainers, owners, jockeys, stablemen, breeders and horse dealers made up another band of perhaps 500 more. Track officials, stockholders, lawyers, waiters, bartenders, Pinkertons, laborers and others amounted to another 500 perhaps. That left a trifle more than 500 real live bettors, who had credit with the so-called bookmakers just so long as they paid their obligations.

It has not been recorded just how many welchers there were, but it would be glossing it over to say only a few. And, by the way, it must be remembered that the former bookmakers had to settle up each day in cash on pain of banishment from the track, but there was no way they could collect debts from recalcitrant bettors. But these were not the greatest hardships which the layers suffered. Under incessant police surveillance, they were always on the watch for sleuths or stool pigeons. They had to keep their eyes open for all kinds of traps set for them by the detectives hired by various district attorneys. They did not dare to trust a casual acquaintance for fear that he might be trying to get evidence against them, and in the course of time they were simply living in a reign of terror.

Though arrested at Gravesend in September, both Sol Lichtenstein and Tom Shaw were among those discharged by Magistrate Geismar the other day. To any regular who watched these two men from day to day it was clearly apparent that they were carrying on an extensive business with friends on a credit basis, but to prove a case against them was another matter. Lichtenstein, formerly the best-known bookmaker in the ring, stood on the lawn every afternoon chewing a black cigar. Three men were constantly at his elbow, leaning over very closely whenever Sol had a whispered conversation with a player. No odds were shown, no money was flashed, and as far as any one could see no records were made. For that reason the authorities in Kings, Queens, Nassau, Westchester and Saratoga counties could not secure sufficient evidence against Lichtenstein to make out a case against him.

It was the same with Tom Shaw. A six-footer, he was continually on the move, with three of his men at his heels. By nodding or shaking his head he showed whether he wanted a bet or not, but, like Lichtenstein, Shaw did not show prices of any kind, accepted no money and did business so quietly that he had the sleuths baffled beyond a doubt. George Rose did business all season without being arrested. He, too, was so careful that it was impossible to get the goods on him. He was told to quit at Sheephead Bay and readily agreed to do so, at the same time declaring that he was $150,000 ahead, and all on credit betting, too. Rose acted as a sort of clearing house for the other bookmakers. He took any kind of a wager offered him and then let the horses run. At Belmont Park the day Golden Legend won Rose quoted 40 to 1 to his customers and lost $12,700 on the bet, which was the only one backed, as the big Californian would not accept a dollar on Lady Selina, the favorite, at 1 to 2. That was going some, but Rose, it must be remembered, is an exception.

"If it had not been for the gameness of the bookmakers," said one of them the other day, "the tracks would have closed up long ago. We could have quit and gone to other tracks where there was real business with no annoyance if we'd wanted to, but we did not feel like surrendering under fire. So we stuck it out, though subjected to persecution, blackmail, grafting and all sorts of things that did not go when the old law was in effect. Few of us have made a dollar, but we've been able to keep our crews at work, which was something. Poor fellows, they don't know any other business, and if we quit they will go to the wall. We've gone to the end of the season along with the track owners for the purpose of doing what we can to keep the turf game alive, and we feel that there will be a turning point in the present rocky road."

LONG DISTANCE NO TERROR.

THE TWO AND A QUARTER MILES WATERHOUSE CUP DRAWS GREAT ENTRY LIST.

All the Cracks at Oakland Nominated—The Adam-Andrew Stakes Secures the Largest Entry List of All.

A high-class race usually attends the disposition of the Waterhouse Cup, one of the principal features of Oakland racing. So many good horses have been nominated for its next running that it promises a grand contest in 1909, better than any marking the history of the event. Such stars of present racing as Pinkola, Uncle Jack Atkin, Montgomery, Nealon, Gowan, Lawrence P. Daley, Don Enrique, Royal Tourist, Temaceo, Westbury, Jim Gaffney, Dorante, Legatee, King James, Tony Faust, Meelick, Logistilla, Old Timer, Milford, Clamor, Firestone, Big Chief, Frank Flittner, Nadzu, Downpatrick, Cloyne, Edwin Gum, Big Bow and Livius have been attracted by the increased endowment of $5,000 added money and if the race is run over a fast track, the contest should be one long memorable in the annals of the sport at Oakland. The entries and conditions are as follows:

Waterhouse Cup—A handicap for two-year-olds and upward at time of closing. $100 to start; $20 forfeit; $5,000 added, of which $1,000 to second and $500 to third; the fourth to save starting fee. Weights to be announced three days prior to the race. Winners of other than a selling purse after the announcement of weights to carry 5 lbs. extra. Two miles and a quarter. To be run Saturday, March 6, 1909.

The Andrew Selling Stakes drew the largest entry list of any of the recently closed stakes of the California Jockey Club. They afford an excellent illustration of the capital racers that will be in action at Oakland and, with the conditions, are as follows:

Andrew Selling Stakes—For two-year-olds and upward at time of closing. $60 to start; $10 forfeit; $2,000 added, of which $400 to second and $200 to third. The winner to be sold at auction. Those entered to be sold for $3,000 to carry weight for age. Allowances: 1 lb. for each $200 to $2,000; then 1 lb. for each $100 to $600. Winners of a race of $1,000 or of three races other than selling purses after the closing of this stakes not to be entered for less than $1,200. Starters to be named, with

WHITNEY MAINTAINS AMERICAN STABLE.

New York, November 17.—It was learned yesterday that H. P. Whitney will have about twenty horses to race here next season, a majority of them two-year-olds, and that they will be trained by W.
H. Karriek, who has handled H. K. Knapp's Oneck
Stable for a number of years with marked success.
Mr. Knapp will continue to keep up his stable, so that Karriek will have his hands full. The fact that Mr. Whitney has engaged Karriek and that Mr.
Knapp is making plans for the future would seem to indicate that racing is not dead yet by any means.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES.

[Communications without names and addresses of senders will not be answered or noticed; nor will any answers be sent by mail.]

D. McD., Toronto, Ont. The wager was a loser.

M. L. W., Hamilton, Ont. Nothing. The wager was a loser.

C. E., Indianapolis, Ind. Cannot answer your query. Do not keep posted.

H. C. S., Cincinnati, O. Prices at the track were as published in this newspaper. Canopian was backed place and show.

A. E. T., St. Louis, Mo. The wager won on Apt and did not go on Cloisteress for the reason that there was not sufficient money coming to execute the wager on the latter.

C. T. E., Chicago. A wager straight and place on the Hildreth entry in the fourth race at Oakland last Saturday was a winner on the straight bet and a draw as to the place bet, there being no coupled place price laid against the entry.

NOTES OF THE TURF.

Joe Yeager is in the city en route to California.
Percy Bailey, agent for Fred Cook, left last night for Oakland.

Starter Holtman and his assistants will leave here for Santa Anita Thursday next.

Miss Delaney is considered one of the best horses racing on the Texas circuit. The filly certainly can cover any distance and runs as well on a heavy as on a fast track.

Pat Dunne bought the three-year-old filly Apt yesterday from Edward Corrigan for the reported price of $600. Dunne will ship her with the rest of his horses to Los Angeles.

The steamer Galveston sails from Galveston, Texas, Sunday, November 22, with a shipment of horses bound for Cuba, where they will race at the coming Havana meeting.

It is reported that Tommy McGee, veteran of the turf and for many years confidential man for Edward Corrigan, will establish himself in some other line of business in Chicago.

Jim Hall, who was a shining light in the pugilistic world several years back, has been connected with a large stable in the east for the last two years and is now on his way to California.

James Rowe, trainer of J. R. Keene's horses, has gone to Toledo, Ohio, to rest for a few days. While most of Mr. Keene's horses have been sent abroad, still quite a few remain at Sheepshead Bay, which often demand the attention of Mr. Rowe.

Gene Wayland says that old Ebony is coming around and will be ready for the races Thanksgiving Day. If this speedy racer ever should get back into the form that enabled him to do a mile in 1:38½ at Ascot Park he would be something of a bear at Santa Anita. That is just what Gene thinks will happen.

Winner—Ch. g. by Prime Minister—Queen Vic (trained by J. Zimmer).
Went to post at 2:33. At post 2 minutes. Start good. Won easily; second and third driving. Little Minister decisively outbroke, outpaced and outstayed his opposition. Eckersall, from a lucky start, ran in nearest and persistent pursuit throughout. Kelowna closed up steadily from an indifferent start into a fast going third. Celere, after prominent contention for six furlongs, tired, and the same of Kamsack. Metekatha, from a flatfooted start, closed an immense gap. Talamund was repeatedly shuffled back and pocketed until too late. The winner was entered for $500; no bid.
Scratched—78221 Black Dress, 104.
Overweights—Pleiad, 2 pounds.

78235 FOURTH RACE—5-8 Mile. (72089—582—3—108.) Purse $600. All Ages. Handicap. Net value to winner $450.

*Roupled in betting; no separate place or show betting.

Winner—Ch. f. by Ben Strome—Naoma (trained by R. Colston).
Went to post at 3:00. At post 2 minutes. Start good for all but Restigouche. Won easily; second and third driving. Jeanne d'Arc broke slowly, but had a clear course and moved up rapidly and drew out decisively when straightened for home. Booger Red ran in forward contention throughout and was a game second. Fitz Herbert, from a good start, was crowded to the rear early and shuffled back repeatedly on the far turn and failed to get up in a whirlwind closing sprint. Native Son ran forwardly without mishaps, but tired at the end. Cloudlight, outpaced to the stretch, finished well. Restigouche, virtually left, closed a gap. Little Jane was shuffled quickly to the rear, but is promising and was short. Rose Queen, big and high in flesh, quit after showing amazing early speed.
Scratched—78136 Pajarito, 105; 78210 Smiley Corbett, 117; 76977 Burning Bush, 97; 78138 Sugarmaid, 110.
Overweights—Little Jane, 2 pounds.

78236 FIFTH RACE—1 Mile. (69104—1384—4—95.) Purse $400. 3-year-olds and upward. Selling. Net value to winner $325.

Winner—Ch. g. by Vergé d'Or—Niobe (trained by W. D. Millard).
Went to post at 3:24. At post 1 minute. Start good. Won driving; second and third the same. Ed Ball broke slowly and met with interference on the first turn, but closed up steadily and drew out decisively at the end of a long stretch drive. Flann N, reserved early, drew out on the backstretch and led to the final sixteenth and tired, but finished gamely. Kermit, crowded back repeatedly, tired and just lasted long enough to save third place. Military Man, crowded to the rear, was a hopeless trailer to the stretch and closed a big gap with a rush. Von Tromp, away badly, went around on the outside like a flash on the first turn and, after forward contention in the middle running, tired in the stretch. Huapala was gaining at the end. Orchard finished well up. Carmelina showed speed. The winner was entered for $500; no bid.
Scratched—78220 St. Avon, 107.
Overweights—Kermit, 2 pounds.

78237 SIXTH RACE—1 Mile and 70 Yards. (69056—143—5—106.) Purse $600. 3-year-olds and upward. Allowances. Net value to winner $450.

Winner—Ch. e. by Lackford—Rites (trained by J. J. Flannigan).
Went to post at 3:53. At post 1 minute. Start straggling. Won cantering; second and third driving. W. T. Overton outbroke and outpaced his opposition decisively and was pulling up in the last sixteenth. Woodcraft, crowded out at the start, finished with a belated rush in a cracking effort. Neva Lee, pulling up at the start and nearly left, closed a big gap in the middle running, but tired and was easing up at the end. Import showed superior speed for seven furlongs and tired badly.

VIRGINIA'S GREATEST BREEDING FARM.

Brilliant Racers Sent Out from R. J. Hancock's Ellerslie Stud by Eolus and His Successors..

"I have been breeding and raising thoroughbred race horses for thirty-six years and during all these years I have never bet a cent nor bought a pool," is the extraordinary statement of Captain R. J. Hancock, the venerable breeder, who, with his son, Arthur Hancock, conducts the historic horse farm, Ellerslie, near Charlottesville, Virginia. Such a statement, coming from a man of Captain Hancock's standing, who has bred some of the most notable stake winners in America and for more than a generation has been identified with the affairs of the turf, its fascinations, excitements and temptations, should prove an agreeable surprise just now, when there is so much legislation that is hostile to horse racing. It goes to show that the old-time conception of the sport partook as much of legitimate business and rivalry as it did of speculation. In discussing the present conditions and future of racing, Captain Hancock made the following statement:

"What I say is with no ill will to any of my brother breeders and turfmen. There are James B. Haggins, James R. Keene, August Belmont, H. P. Whitney, Henry Oxnard and John Madden with their numerous broodmares and stallions. These gentlemen breed and raise race horses enough every year to furnish the world with such stock, if they were the right sort.

"Now as to England. There are Edward VII., a true sportsman; Lord Rosebery, the Duke of Portland and the Duke of Westminster. Perhaps they are four of the wealthiest men in the kingdom. I doubt if either of them has as many as thirty broodmares in their studs, but they are the cream of the stud book.

"Compare these with a lot of mares picked up promiscuously—the worthless ones to eat the heads off the good ones every winter. Now, why cannot we Americans adopt the same tactics? Get rid of the trash and breed nothing but the bluest blood.

"Then there is France. I understand she will not allow a two-year-old to start until August 1 every year, which is good, hard sense, and our jockey clubs would do well to profit by the example. Under present conditions $5,000 is enough to give any two-year-old to run a six-furlong race, and $10,000 for any three-year-old stake.

"For instance, start the three-year-olds, say at Pimlico, not earlier than the first or middle of May, and a liberal amount of older horses in handicaps and overnight events. What good sense is there in giving such horses as Morello or Colin $40,000 or $50,000 to run a six-furlong race when Bush Whacker and Princeton were sent four-mile heats (three heats, twelve miles), and the old Maryland Jockey Club gave only $2,500 added money?

"They were sure enough race horses, and so were Glenmore and Willie D., which went the same route over the same track for the same amount of money in the fastest time ever made at the distance."

Thoroughly warmed up to his theme, with a benevolent but virile sparkles in his fine eyes, the stanch old Virginian continued:

"I do not advocate four-mile heats nor three-mile heats, but I think two miles is not too far to send a good horse, and occasionally a dash of two and a half miles, three miles and four miles.

"We can certainly breed as good horses as England or France, and we should begin next year to send them as the English and French do. Let the jockey clubs reduce the amount of the stakes, especially for two-year-olds, and the gate money and entrance fees will be sufficient, I imagine, to foot the bills and have a good margin besides."

Prominent among the trees at Ellerslie is the elm. There is a tradition among horsemen that wherever the elm tree grows thoroughbred horses will thrive.

In creating this establishment Captain Hancock had good judgment to begin with, which he supplemented by careful study of blood lines, individual characteristics and mating. Along with this he made close observation of the natural requirements in the development of soundness, health and all the attributes that count in a typical race horse, while his long experience with the life on the farm and its vicissitudes equips him for the business.

When he selected Charaxus to breed to the fillies of his premier sire, Eolus, he revealed a discrimination which has attracted the attention of horsemen everywhere. The following is but an incomplete chronicle of the great racers sent out from Ellerslie:

Horse.	Races.	Am't.
Morello, Futurity Stakes, etc.	24	$80,155
Eurus, Suburban Handicap, etc.	28	69,225
Elkwood, Suburban Handicap, etc.	14	36,375
Eon, New York Jockey Club, etc.	34	43,895
Diablo, Brooklyn Handicap, etc.	34	73,197
Eole, cups, handicaps, etc.	27	54,187
Eolian, Woodlawn Handicap, etc.	21	18,900
Russell, Great American Stakes, etc.	31	81,478
Charade, Metropolitan Handicap, etc.	35	50,957
Charentis, mile and a quarter record on circular course, 2:04.	39	30,735
Rosinante, Pacific Coast record for mile and an eighth, 1:52, etc.	28	11,615
Hammie, Surf Stakes, etc.	17	19,235
Lester, the "Iron Horse"	44	20,525
Ma Belle, nine consecutive victories.	33	15,915
Chateau, Expectation Stakes, etc.	15	10,515

Eolus was a son of Leamington and Fanny Washington, coming from stock noted for its racing powers. Not only was Eolus a great sire but he begot colts that made good as sires. For example, Morello was the sire of Eddie Jones, one of the best horses ever raced on the coast; Imperious, winner of the Burns $10,000 Handicap, etc.; Russell, which sired Triaditza (Memphis seven-eighths mile record, 1:27); Miss Bennett, champion two-year-old in the west in 1900; Cheesemite, the crack steeplechaser of that year in the west.

In speaking of steeplechasers, Charaxus sired the great hurdler Charawind, another western star in 1900 and again in 1903, when he won six cross-country races.

Coming down to more recent times, for the last three or four years Fatherless, a son of Isonomy and Orphan Agnes, has presided as premier at the Ellerslie court. He was a great race horse in England when imported to Virginia and has made his impress upon the racing stock of the state. Isonomy is the only horse that ever sired two winners of the "Triple Event." In 1905, up to April 13, Fatherless was the only sire in the United States that season to be represented by five two-year-old winners, and this year he has a place in the list of twenty leading stallions.

Some Baltimore horsemen have owned Fatherless colts and raced them on the New York tracks with success. Prominent among his get have been Peter, Judge White, T. S. Martin, Jupiter, Venus, Bonnet, The Clown, Workman, Workmaid, Orphan Lad, Giles, Billie Hibbs, Marster, Trey of Spades, Nellie Burn, Awless, Reynard, Mistiss, Minnie Baker and Aiken.

This fall seventeen yearlings by Fatherless were disposed of, and it remains to be seen whether his progeny will "go back" or achieve laurels worthy of their sire and their home.

HOW KINLEY MACK'S SIRE DIED.

It appears from the details of the death of the famous stallion, Islington, which occurred recently, that the sire of Kinley Mack met with a startlingly sudden end. Islington was the property of Henry T. Oxnard and was standing at his Blue Ridge Farm in Fauquier County, Virginia. On the day of his death, Islington appeared in apparently excellent health and condition. When his groom went into his stall to feed him, the big horse, which was always good natured, nuzzled him affectionately as he filled the feed box, and immediately the feed box was filled the stallion buried his nose in the oats. As the groom left the stall, he heard a crash and a groan, which brought him back instantly, only to find Islington stretched upon the floor. The groom at first thought the horse had suffered from an attack of colic, which would pass away in a short time. An investigation, however, disclosed the fact that Islington was dead and an autopsy, ordered by Mr. Oxnard as soon as he heard the news, revealed the cause of the horse's untimely death, namely heart disease. This disease apparently runs in the family of Islington, for one of his sons, Michael III., when at Aqueduct in 1898, fell dead of heart disease after showing a fast trial for the Metropolitan Handicap.

Islington was a chestnut horse foaled in 1888 by Isonomy—Dead Lock at the breeding establishment of Captain McCalmont in England. He was a full-brother to the celebrated English stallion Isinglass, the greatest race horse of his time and one of the most successful sires that ever stood in England. Islington was imported to this country in the early nineties by Simon Reed and established in California, where he gave to the thoroughbred world the great Kinley Mack. The wonderful career of this magnificent racer was alone sufficient to establish undying fame for the name of Islington. Kinley Mack, besides winning the Brooklyn and Suburban Handicaps of 1900, also captured the Beverwyck, the Autumn Cup and the First Special. To his fame as a racer Kinley Mack, since retiring to James B. Haggins' Elmendorf Stud, had added that of a successful sire, having sent Kinleydale, Bouquet and Statesman to the races.

After Islington had demonstrated his ability to beget race horses, Captain McCalmont sent a man to this country to bring him back to England to take Isinglass' place at the head of his stud in the event that anything befell that horse. Mr. Oxnard, after purchasing the Blue Ridge Farm, set about trying to buy Islington to place him at the head of his new stud, but was unsuccessful until after the death of Captain McCalmont, who went to Africa to serve his country in the Boer war.

Islington was installed at Blue Ridge three years ago, and his first yearlings were sold this year. Some of them were sold at Sheephead Bay in the spring, while others were sent to England and disposed of there. The prices realized at these sales were good, considering the condition of the thoroughbred market, a total of nineteen head bringing $8,425. The Chelsea Stable secured one of the most promising of Islington's yearlings, a strapping colt out of the Hanover mare, Miss Laudeman, the dam of Preceptor. Mr. Oxnard keenly feels the loss of his leading stallion, because he regarded the son of Isonomy as the best horse on his place, although Golden Maxim, Prince of Melbourne and Hawkswick are standing at Blue Ridge.
